When? 28th – 30th May 2018

Where ? Deltares, Delft, The Netherlands

Local organiser: Leonard Osté (leonard.oste@deltares.nl) - Deltares

Contact for C-CASCADES: Emily Mainetti (emainett@ulb.ac.be) – Université Libre de Bruxelles

Description:

This Training Workshop is organised in the framework of C-CASCADES - Carbon Cascades from Land to Ocean in the Anthropocene - a European Union Horizon 2020 Marie Curie funded project.

Its main objective is to develop the 'Entrepreneurial Skills' of young researchers and to prepare them for their future career. This workshop is organised by DELTAIRES, an independent institute for applied research in the field of water and subsurface, with a main focus on deltas, coastal regions and river basins.

Throughout this 3-days event, the young researchers will:

- Have a taste of the different career opportunities accessible for them
- Learn how to develop entrepreneurial skills and realise their ideas
- Reflect about their personal skills and capabilities
- Develop their communication skills (media training, pitching ...)

This workshop is a great opportunity for young researchers to open-up new career perspectives and to develop transferable skills.

This event is open for Masters, PhD students and postdocs and is free of charge (accommodation & dinners not included).
